International Market Wrap

Technology shares fell, stalling this week's rally, after disappointing earnings from two industry heavyweights revived doubts over whether billions of dollars in AI spending will deliver sufficient returns. Alphabet Inc. slumped 10% in extended trading after sales underwhelmed, reinforcing concerns that Google is losing ground to AI rivals despite pouring hundreds of billions of dollars into the technology. Samsung slid as much as 6.6% in Seoul as the lack of a new shareholder return plan disappointed investors. The Kospi Index fell 1.2%, a reversal from Wednesday, when the benchmark gauge jumped by the most since July on the back of SK Hynix Inc.'s numbers. Futures for the Nasdaq 100 Index dropped 1.1% after the underlying benchmark climbed for the past three days.

International News

The Federal Reserve kept its key rate unchanged Wednesday despite stubbornly high inflation, as Chairman Kevin Warsh suggested its policies are already showing signs of having an impact.

Local News

BoN hikes repo rate to 7%, pushing prime lending rate to 10.5%. The Bank of Namibia has increased the repo rate by 25 basis points to 7.00%, pushing the prime lending rate to 10.50%, in a move expected to raise borrowing costs for households and businesses amid mounting inflationary pressures. The decision, announced on Wednesday, follows the Monetary Policy Committee's (MPC) fifth meeting of the year, held on 26 and 27 October, during which members unanimously agreed to tighten monetary policy to protect the Namibia Dollar's peg to the South African Rand. Bank of Namibia Governor Ebson Uanguta said the decision was necessary to contain inflationary pressures caused by rising fuel prices and reduce the interest rate gap between Namibia and South Africa. – The Brief

CoW overwhelmed by Windhoek's growing population. The City of Windhoek (CoW) has admitted that it is struggling to cope with an influx of approximately 12,000 new residents annually, warning that its limited financial resources can no longer keep pace with growing demand for housing, jobs and basic services. City of Windhoek Chief Executive Officer Moses Matyayi has appealed to central government for urgent financial support, saying the municipality cannot shoulder the growing cost of urbanisation alone as the capital's population approaches 540,000. – The Brief

Namibia vaccinates over 61,000 cattle against FMD. The Ministry of Agriculture, Fisheries, Water and Land Reform has vaccinated 61,315 cattle against foot-and-mouth disease (FMD) in the // Kharas and Zambezi regions as authorities intensify efforts to contain outbreaks and prevent the disease from spreading to other parts of the country. According to the ministry's latest update, 7,402 cattle have been vaccinated across 81 farms in the //Kharas Region, while 53,913 cattle have received vaccinations at 37 crush pens in the Zambezi Region. In the //Kharas Region, where FMD serotype SAT 1 was confirmed on 23 September 2026, the outbreak has affected 18 farms, with 131 positive cases recorded. – The Brief

Windhoek targets to create 55,200 jobs through 24 new informal markets. The City of Windhoek plans to develop 24 additional informal markets with the potential to create 55,200 direct and indirect employment opportunities, as the municipality seeks to expand trading infrastructure and support small businesses in the capital. The proposed developments are expected to accommodate 1,320 additional traders, with the municipality projecting 11,000 direct jobs and 44,200 indirect employment opportunities. City of Windhoek Chief Executive Officer Moses Matyayi revealed the plans during a briefing to two National Assembly standing committees, outlining the municipality's strategy to expand economic participation through improved informal trading facilities. – The Brief

Govt mobilises N$979m for climate-resilient development. The government has mobilised approximately N$979 million through bilateral and multilateral funding windows for climate-resilient and low-emission development initiatives, according to the Consolidated Accountability Report 2025/2026 released by the ministry of finance this week. The ministry of environment, forestry and tourism (MEFT) said it had also developed a Climate Finance Strategy to strengthen the country's capacity to access climate finance at scale. MEFT is finalising the review of the National Policy on Climate Change, adopted in 2011, following the completion of regional consultations. – Windhoek Observer

Anglo's Sanches says Brazil must 'negotiate with everyone'. Anglo American Plc's top executive in Brazil says the nation should avoid picking sides in the global race for critical minerals and seek to supply nations across geopolitical blocs. "We have to negotiate with everyone. There's no reason for us to choose a side," Ana Sanches said in an interview Monday, a day after leftist President Luiz Inácio Lula da Silva won re-election as the head of Latin America's largest economy. Brazil holds one of the world's largest reserves of rare earths — used in everything from electric vehicles and wind turbines to drones — second only to China. As the South American country seeks to capitalize on its vast mineral resources, Lula will be challenged to balance ties with China, its biggest trading partner, and the US, which is seeking alternative supplies of critical minerals to reduce its reliance on Beijing. – Moneyweb

Ratings upgrade fuels Northam shares. Shares in Northam Platinum were up almost 3% in early trade on the JSE on Wednesday after ratings agency GCR upgraded the group's ratings. Northam said in a statement that GCR had upgraded its national scale long- and short-term issuer ratings to AA(ZA) and A1+(ZA), from A+ (ZA) and A1(ZA), respectively, with a stable outlook. "The upgrade of Northam's ratings reflects its demonstrated ability to grow production levels and reserves internally through continuous project development," the group said. GCR noted that it believes that the group's lower cost position and growing volumes will continue to support its robust financial performance after record-high results for the 2026 financial year to end-June. – Business Day

Strong poultry demand and firmer rand boost Quantum Foods. Quantum Food Holdings expects to report higher annual earnings as demand for poultry products improved and the company benefited from the stronger rand. The group said late on Tuesday that HEPS for the year to end-September are expected to be between 157.5c and 173.7c, an increase of between 17% and 29% from a year ago. EPS are seen 16%-28% higher at between 160c and 176.6c. The group said trading conditions during the 2026 financial year were generally favourable, supported by higher demand for poultry products, a stronger rand against the dollar and lower feed input costs. – Business Day

SA Economic News

South Africa gas-power tender stalls over supply assurances. South Africa opted not to appoint any preferred bidders for gas-power projects because those that applied "were unable to provide gas-supply assurances to the level required," the Ministry of Electricity and Energy said in a statement.

South Africa readies backup plan for benchmark rate law delay. The South African Reserve Bank and financial institutions are preparing a backup plan in case legislation needed for the switch to a new rand benchmark interest rate isn't passed by the end of the year. The Market Practitioners Group, which includes the central bank, the Financial Sector Conduct Authority and private-sector firms, is considering options to ensure the transition can proceed smoothly if the legislation is delayed, the Reserve Bank said in an emailed response to questions. "Any changes to the transition timetable or related arrangements would be communicated to the market in a timely manner," it said.

Zimbabwe targets balanced budget in 2027 to lift economy. Zimbabwe plans to balance its budget next year as the government seeks to preserve recent gains in stabilizing an economy long plagued by high inflation and currency turmoil. The southern African nation projects revenue of 350 billion Zimbabwe gold (US$13 billion) in 2027 and expenditure of 347 billion Zimbabwe gold, resulting in a budget surplus equivalent to 0.1% of gross domestic product, Finance Minister Mthuli Ncube told lawmakers at a pre-budget meeting in Bulawayo. Zimbabwe also recorded a surplus in 2025.

Commentary on Previous Auction:

This switch auction on the 21st of October saw the central bank receive bids totalling N$694.2m for the GC27 source bond and opted to switch N$658.8m of those. Consequently, the outstanding amount on the GC27 now stands at N$2.44bn. Demand was heavily concentrated towards the front end of the curve. The GC29 and GC34 attracted N$402.2m between them, making up 57.9% of all bids received. All bids were successful on the GC29, GC40, GC43 and GC50. Demand thinned out further along the curve, with the GC43 to GC53 attracting a combined N$133.8m, or 19.3% of all bids received, of which N$114.5m was allocated.
